Gilligan Budget Nears Final OK

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John Gilligan's $9.9 billion budget comes before a House-Senate conference committee this week as the legislature attempts to work out differences before the end of the fiscal year, June 30.

The appropriations bill passed the House April 18 and the Senate Friday.

The House version was modeled along administration lines. Republicans who control the Senate rewrote it and paved the way for a showdown.

Legislators who have pet bills pending are working hard to get them on the floor before a compromise is worked out on the budget.

Once the money bill is passed, there will be little reason for most legislators to remain in Columbus.

"There is really nothing pending other than the budget that anybody would miss if we went home," said one.

The appropriations bill is the political battle cry of most legislators. It includes "pork barrel" legislation for their own districts.

Some will condemn it for being too much, others for being too little. Gilligan contends Republicans cut too much from state service agencies.

Both houses of the legislature—as well as the six-member conference committee—are to go into session Tuesday.

The Senate Ways and Means Committee will start off the week at 9:30 a.m. Tuesday with a hearing on a bill to create a commission to implement a state lottery.

Sen. Ronald M. Mottl, D-24 Parma, introduced the bill after the House and Senate were unable to agree on a proposal for another commission to make a study and a recommendation for a lottery.

The commission Mottl envisions would have the authority to put a lottery in effect. It wouldn't need legislative approval.

The House is to vote Wednesday on a bill that would require oil companies to post a $150,000 bond on each new service station to ensure their removal when they are abandoned.

The bill is sponsored by Rep. Ike Thompson, D-13 Cleveland. Violators could be fined up to $100 for each day of violation.

Weather

Mostly sunny today, high in mid 80s. Increased cloudiness tonight, low in mid 60s. Variable cloudiness with chance of thundershowers Tuesday. High mid 80s. Chance of rain, 10 per cent today, 20 per cent tonight, and 50 per cent tomorrow.

3 Dead, 7 Hurt In Shootout

NEW YORK (AP) — "There were bullets all over the place," a detective said after a policeman, a bartender and a gunman were shot to death in a crowded Harlem bar. Another officer and six patrons were wounded.

Police said about 20 shots were exchanged Sunday night after two patrolmen entered the Capri Bar and Grill and told a man waving a pistol to drop his weapon. He responded by firing five shots, police said.

A woman patron said a policeman ordered the gunman to "Drop your gun!" But the gunman "just wheeled about and fired at them five times," she told authorities.

Police Commissioner Donald F. Cawley said the initial report showed that "some of the injured were possibly hit by police fire." He said he could give no motive for the shooting.

The wounded officer and three of the wounded patrons were taken to Harlem Hospital.

4 Trapped In Sub

KEY WEST, Fla. (AP) — A fourth attempt to rescue four men trapped in mini research submarine on the floor of the Atlantic failed today. Officials expressed grave concern for the men's safety.

"We must get to that sub" said Lieutenant Commander R. H. Bisbing a Navy spokesman. "We hope the men can survive."

The four — two of the reportedly unconscious in a rear compartment of the sub — were on their last emergency supply of oxygen and Bisbing said a new attempt to reach them could take several hours.

The air supply for the four had dwindled to about an hour at 11 a.m. EDT as divers worked feverishly to reach them with a diving bell. Two reportedly already were unconscious.

One of the unconscious men was Clayton Link, 31, son of the research sub's designer, Edwin Link.

Three previous attempts to reach the sub — two by hard-hat divers and one with a diving bell — had failed, stymied by the danger of entangling rescuers in the same wreckage that trapped the minisub.

The small submarine was wedged in the wreckage of a World War II destroyer about 20 miles southeast of Key West, home of one of the nation's oldest naval bases.

Cmdr. William McVeigh, chief of staff at the Key West base, said "nothing really has been accomplished" in initial rescue attempts "because of cables and debris" from the sunken destroyer.

McVeigh said the rescue vessel

Tringa was maneuvering into position for another attempt to lower the bell chamber to the trapped minisub.

Shortly after daybreak Cmdr. William Smith said there had been radio contact with two men in the front of the sub and they had reported the men in the rear were still breathing. "But there is still no response from the two in the back," Smith said, explaining this indicated the two were unconscious.

Smith said "the critical thing is not the air supply but amassing carbon dioxide. The colder it gets the less effective the chemical absorption is."

Adm. John Maurer, commander of Key West Naval Station, said two teams of divers had been down, one to within 10 feet of the sub. But "neither one was able to completely reach the submarine because of the wreckage involved and they were in danger of entangling themselves."

The elder Link was helping to direct the rescue attempts 20 miles east of Key West.

Link, who was aboard the Sea Diver, mother ship of the minisub, alerted the Coast Guard to the emergency Sunday morning.

The first attempt to lower an air compression bell chamber with two divers aboard in an effort to free the craft believed trapped in cables dangling from the wreck of the USS Fred T. Berry failed.

"One of the divers had a problem with his mask and they had to bring the bell up after it reached 160 feet," a Navy spokesman said.

Brezhnev, Nixon Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon and Leonid I. Brezhnev, leaders of the world's most powerful nations, today formally began summit talks intended to cement U.S.-Soviet relations and accelerate negotiations on lasting nuclear arms curbs.

The talks scheduled for the White House, the Camp David presidential retreat in the Maryland mountains and the Western White House at San Clemente, Calif., come against a backdrop of continuing domestic controversy over the Watergate scandal.

Jewish groups also have announced a series of demonstrations protesting Brezhnev's visit and Nixon's efforts to increase economic ties with the Soviet Union. Because of the threat of demonstrations tight security has been arranged for the Brezhnev visit.

A rally urging Brezhnev to permit free emigration of Soviet Jews to the West was held on the steps of the Capitol Sunday afternoon, with police estimating the crowd at 10,000.

Members of the Young Americans for Freedom, a conservative group, demonstrated outside of the office of the Soviet newspapers Pravda and Izvestia. They held a mock trial and hanging of Brezhnev.

The general secretary of the Soviet Communist Party arrived Saturday on his first visit ever to the United States and went immediately to Camp David, about 75 miles northwest of Washington.

There he conferred for three hours Sunday night with presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger, who had met earlier in the day with Nixon before the President returned to the capital from a weekend at his Key Biscayne, Fla., home.

In addition to two separate Oval Office sessions today, Nixon will host Brezhnev at a black-tie White House dinner tonight. The menu features lobster and filet of beef and the entertainment will be provided by Johnny Mann and his singing group.

While Nixon has said he expects "significant agreements" to come from the summit, Kissinger cautioned in advance against expecting any specific arms curb agreement. Rather, Kissinger has said the leaders will attempt to settle upon instructions to the negotiating teams in Geneva, which now are working on the permanent accord.

Sharing Plan Faces Trouble

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The first special revenue-sharing bill of President Nixon's second term is in trouble with Congress and the nation's mayors.

Foremost among disagreements over the Better Communities Bill is whether the federal government should tell cities to spend their community development dollars on the poor.

There also is disagreement over how much money the federal government will provide and what will be done until the bill becomes law.

Undersecretary Floyd Hyde of the Department of Housing and Urban Development called the measure "a cornerstone of President Nixon's new federalism" during discussions Sunday at the annual meeting of the U.S. Conference of Mayors.

Even though all parties — the administration, Congress and the mayors — agreed on the principle of giving local officials more freedom in spending federal aid, the current debate over details threatens to kill the proposal, Hyde said.

The bill, which would take effect July 1, 1974, proposes to replace seven HUD programs under which municipalities applied to the federal government for specific grants for projects authorized by each program.

ROUNDTOWN

CIRCLEVILLE police have issued a warning against the use of sparklers. According to the department, sparklers are in the same category as fireworks and the possession or use of them is illegal.

UNHAPPY Maurice Weaver of Brooklyn, N.Y., lost his billfold while visiting his uncle and cousin, Rufus and Michael Fletcher, Route 4. Along with the $15 it contained were important papers difficult to replace. If found, call 474-1052.

The programs include urban renewal and model cities.

That system would be replaced by automatic grants of money — a total of $2.5 billion for the first year — for community development. The grants would go to cities of more than 50,000 population, with the amount figured from a formula that considers population, number of needy persons and amount of overcrowding in housing.

The cities could use the money for almost any community development project they chose.

However, the resolutions committee of the mayor's conference has urged that cities be required to submit outlines of what projects they undertake and show how they will meet housing needs and eliminate slums, among other goals. It also has asked that the federal government review these proposals.

The desire for stated national goals most often is expressed publicly by black mayors. They fear that, without such goals, some unpopular social programs would die — possibly not in their cities but in others.

Privately, a number of white mayors, particularly some liberal Democrats, say they want the guidelines so they can blame the federal government for continuing social programs that they like but that are unpopular in their communities.

Violent Weather Claims 3 Lives

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Stable weather began appearing early today, following a violent weekend of thunderstorms, tornadoes, flooding and lightning which claimed three lives.

Thunderstorms lingered over the northern Mississippi Valley, across the Great Lakes region and southward to the middle Atlantic states and over parts of Florida.

Hail over an inch in diameter fell from thunderstorms over South Dakota and Nebraska late Sunday. Winds gusted up to 55 miles per hour over parts of Nebraska.

Rain fell in the Pacific Northwest and the northern and central Rockies. Snow developed in higher elevations and travelers' advisories were posted for the mountains of Colorado and Wyoming.

Fair skies prevailed from California to the southern Plains, over New England and from Wisconsin to the Gulf coast.

The Midwest was subject to high winds, tornadoes, heavy rains and severe lightning Saturday and Sunday. Three persons were killed by lightning on Saturday, two in Illinois and one in Kansas.

Dozens of funnel clouds were sighted, but few touched the ground. There were few serious injuries and no deaths reported. High winds cut power lines to 25,000 persons in northern Illinois. Golfball-sized hail bombarded Milwaukee airport in 75 m.p.h. winds.

About 80,000 persons in the Milwaukee area were without electricity Saturday. Utility executives distributed dry ice to homeowners for their refrigerators while crews worked to repair damaged lines.

Two persons drowned in Lake Michigan when boats capsized and one Milwaukee man died of head injuries he suffered when knocked to the pavement by a blast of wind.

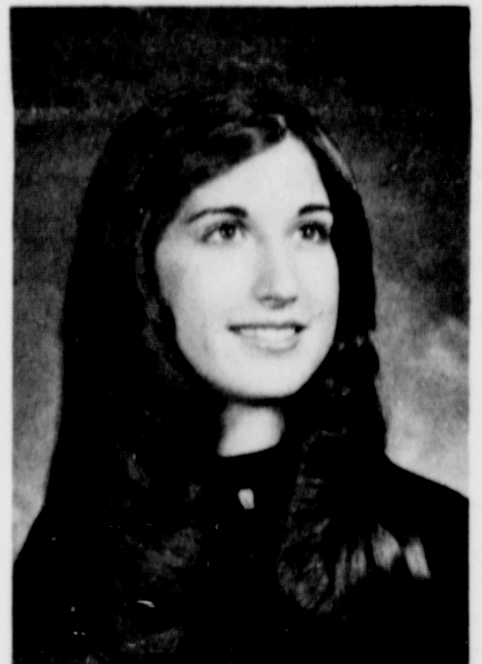

About 1,000 persons were forced to flee from their homes Sunday as a wall of water from Lake Erie swept in on Gibraltar, Mich., and Toledo, Ohio. No injuries were reported.

Authorities Still Seek Keaton

Authorities continued their search today for Cleo Vernon Keaton, 36, of Dayton, and George Fisher, 23, of Columbus, who escaped from Lima State Hospital for the criminally insane Friday night.

Pickaway County Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and Circleville Police said today there is no indication as to where the two escapees may be, although authorities are watching the Columbus area closely.

Keaton was convicted by a Pickaway County Common Pleas Court jury of the first degree murder of Maurice Francis, of Williamsport, in 1965.

VANESSA MILLS

Miss Mills Named Maid Of Roses

Vanessa Lynne Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mills, Route 4, was selected the Maiden of Roses at the Park of Roses Pageant Sunday.

Miss Mills, Logan Elm High School graduate, will be hostess for the park's various activities for the remainder of the summer.

She will receive a $1000 scholarship from the Park of Roses Foundation, along with various other gifts.

A trophy presented to her by WLW-C television will be placed on exhibit in Logan Elm High School for one year.

Vanessa will be a representative for the State Rose Growers at the State Fair, and will also be hostess for the National Rose Growers Convention to be held in Columbus in September.

A meeting with Columbus Mayor Moody tonight is the first of numerous social events she will take part in throughout the state during her reign.

Miss Mills begins classes tomorrow at Ohio State University majoring in music.

Skylab Shatters Space Longevity Record

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Skylab 1 astronauts today became history's longest-flying space travelers.

Though almost grounded last month by problems with their orbiting laboratory, Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz smashed a mark set two years ago by three Soviet cosmonauts.

At 3:22 a.m. EDT, the trio surpassed the single mission record of 23 days, 18 hours, 22 minutes logged in June 1971 by Soyuz 11.

Capsule communicator Henry Hartsfield informed them of the record just before Skylab lost radio contact with the Canary Island station.

"In about two minutes you will become the new world champs for the longest space flight," he said.

But the crew was busy with the daily weighing chore and Weitz replied: "Okay, thanks for the dope, Henry. We're all busy at the BMD (body measuring device), happily getting weighed."

At the next station, Honeysuckle in Australia, Commander Conrad said: "How about having Tom Stafford or Deke (Slayton) relay to the Russian cosmonauts our respects...and wish them good luck from us in the future."

Astronauts Slayton and Stafford are scheduled to fly on the joint U.S.-

Russian manned space mission scheduled in 1975.

The Russian flight in 1971 ended tragically when all three cosmonauts died during earth re-entry because of a faulty hatch seal that caused rapid decompression of the Soyuz cabin.

Conrad, who is on his fourth space trip, earlier set a record for total individual flight time and now has logged more than 44 days in space.

The Americans were 275 miles over Nigeria in Africa today when they set the new standard.

As they set the mark, Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz still had four days of their flight left. Their space journey started out in deep trouble, but was saved by the skill and daring of the astronauts on ingenious repair assignments.

They are to dispatch their Apollo ferry ship from the 118-foot long Skylab Friday, aiming for a splash-down in the Pacific Ocean about 800 miles southwest of San Diego at 9:48 a.m. EDT after 28 days, 48 minutes in space.

Their record isn't expected to last long. On July 27 the Skylab 2 crew is to rocket to the same station for 56 days to continue medical, scientific and earth resources experiments started by Skylab 1.

And in October, the Skylab 3 astronauts are to visit the station, also for 56 days.

The Skylab 1 crew plans its last solar astronomy research today.

On Tuesday Conrad will take a space walk to retrieve film from the eight telescopes that have been taking detailed photographs of the sun. Included are pictures of a giant flare observed last Friday.

Conrad, assisted by Weitz, will step through an airlock hatch and climb a ladder to reach the film vaults outside the lab. He'll also install new film for the Skylab 2 team.

After Tuesday's space stroll, the astronauts will spend two days deactivating systems and readying the workshop for Skylab 2.

"We're slowly but surely closing this baby down," said flight director Neil Hutchinson.

On Sunday, the astronauts received a telephone call from President Nixon and Father's Day greetings from their families.

It was also Conrad's 20th wedding anniversary, and Mrs. Conrad and three of the four Conrad sons visited mission control for a phone conversation.

"Happy anniversary," Jane Conrad told her husband. "You were thinking ahead. You sent me 20 red roses."

"I wasn't thinking that far ahead," Conrad confessed. "I ordered them from here by secret communicator."

Markets

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market dropped sharply today in moderately slow trading as the international monetary situation appeared to be worsening and confusion and disappointment over President Nixon's economic policy prevailed.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was down 9.86 points at 878.69. Declining issues on the New York Stock Exchange swamped advancing issues 892 to 240.

Analysts said the prediction by the Bank for International Settlements that the dollar crisis would continue for some time hurt Wall Street. The dollar hit record lows in some European markets and the price of gold surged.

On the American Stock Exchange, prices were also lower in slow trading. The noon price change index was down .05 points at 22.51. Champion Home Builders was the most-active issue, down 3/4 at 4 1/4. A 74,900 share block was traded at 4 1/2, off 1/2.

Burial will be at Greenlawn Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home 2 to 4 and 6 to 9 p.m. today.

Mr. Weiss died of a gunshot wound Thursday in Portsmouth.

Lightning Hits House Antenna

Harrison Township Fire Department was called to the Route 2, Ashville residence of Paul Hoover when lightning struck the house.

The lightning apparently hit the television antenna.

Investigating Deputy Lowell Ferguson reported there was only smoke, no fire. The house was not damaged.

Illegal Burning Of Tires Halted

A trash fire at the rear of Landmark store, E. Mound St., was extinguished at 2:25 p.m. Saturday by Circleville firemen.

The fire report indicates employees were burning trash and debris when someone added four old tires to the blaze. It is against the city code to burn tires or any item which gives off heavy smoke or noxious fumes.

Four Autos Collide On Route 23

A 70-year-old Columbus man was blamed in a four-car collision Saturday in Franklin County which involved several Pickaway Counties.

Highway Patrolman Ron Lewis cited Charlie Bush, Columbus, for assured clear distance after the elderly man caused a chain reaction crash on Route 23 Saturday morning with three other vehicles stopped for the traffic light at Scioto Downs.

Other vehicles involved were operated by Richard W. Smalley, 49, of Ashville; Stephen Brown, 20, of Plainview Trailer Court, Lockbourne and Nancy L. Kimble, 21, of Ashville.

Kimble and a passenger, Lisa J. Everts, 35, also of Ashville, reported injuries.

At noon Saturday, Highway Patrolman Lanny North investigated a two car accident at the intersection of Routes 23 and 762.

Cited was 53-year-old Elizabeth Murphy, Columbus, for making an improper turn. She was headed south on Route 23, Ptl. North reported, when she attempted a left turn from the driving lane into the crossover.

She drove her car into the side of an auto driven by Robert L. Scaggs, 18, of Whitelawn. Eight-year-old Shirley Scaggs was slightly injured.

Barricade And Hubcaps Stolen

A road barrier and flasher unit owned by C. K. McFarland and Sons, Route 3, was reported taken from Van Meter Road sometime between 9 p.m. Sunday and 7 a.m. this morning.

The barricade had been placed to warn motorists of a large hole in the roadway. The unit was valued at $60.

Hubcaps were reported taken from an auto owned by Michael Tarbill, Allen St., Williamsport. Tarbill noted that the car was parked in his driveway between 7:30 p.m. Friday and noon Saturday, when the loss was discovered. The four hubcaps were valued at $140.

Festival To Open Wednesday

The Kingston Geranium Festival will begin Wednesday and run through Saturday.

Lima Case Goes Before Local Jury

Selection of a jury began today for a drug-related case transferred here from Allen County.

David Scott Libert, 23, of Lima, faces five charges relating to sale and possession of marijuana stemming from a December, 1972, drug raid in that northern Ohio city.

Libert asked consideration of a venue change because of adverse publicity about the "drug culture" by Lima news media and the published "hard line" attitude taken by one of the court judges in that county. The transfer to Pickaway County was authorized in order to allow Libert a fair trial.

Homosexuality Not A Sickness

DEAR ABBY: About a year or so ago you came out with the statement that homosexuals are NOT sick. Please try to find it, and run it again. This is important to me. Thank you.

DAILY READERS IN S.F.
DEAR READER: Homosexuality is NOT a "sickness." There are homosexuals who live socially well-adjusted, discreet personally happy lives, homosexuality would come as a surprise to many of their close heterosexual friends.

The fact that homosexuality is morally condemned by most people in our culture makes it seem abnormal. In other times and in other cultures it has not always been so judged.

Much of the maladjustment seen in homosexuals is due to the rejection, persecution and guilt imposed upon them by an intolerant and unenlightened society.

One who labels all homo-sexuals as sick does a grave disservice to a large segment of our population.

DEAR ABBY: I have a very good job as a secretary, and my problem is a husband who likes to phone me twice a day just to talk-about nothing. Maybe there is something wrong with me, but I would prefer that he didn't call me at work unless there is some reason for it.

I have never been told it was against the rules, but I get very uneasy hanging on the phone listening to his pointless chitchat. I have asked him not to call me just to talk but he does anyway, and I have a terrible time getting off the phone.

I just this minute got off the phone with him, after cutting him very short saying I was in the middle of something important, so he called me right back to finish a longdrawn-out, boring story, so I cut him short again.

I offered to quit my job so I would stay home and talk to him whenever he wants for as long as he wants but he didn't like the idea.

How should I handle this? I am very upset.

BUGGED IN THE BRONX
DEAR BUGGED: How old is your husband? He sounds like a pestiferous little boy. Tell him his calls are upsetting you and to please cease and desist. And if he calls you anyway, keep cutting him shorter and shorter until he gets the message.

DEAR ABBY: Yesterday I received a nasty letter from my mother. She tore me apart because I forgot to send my father a card or some kind of

Boys State Government Sworn In

ASHLAND, Ohio (AP) — Rick Theis of Warren was inaugurated Sunday as the mock governor of Buckeye Boys State delegates meeting at Ashland College.

Theis, the Nationalist party candidate, defeated Mike Brutz, also of Warren and a Federalist, in elections Saturday.

The new government officials, sworn in by Ohio Supreme Court Chief Justice C. William O'Neill, include: Lt. Gov. Ed Biehl, Marietta, Federalist; Secretary of State Dan Mooney, Lockland, Nationalist; Treasurer Jody Maxwell, Zanesville, Nationalist; Atty. Gen. Hayes Taylor, East Liverpool, Nationalist; and Auditor Paul Malesick, Mingo Junction, Federalist.

The high school boys were to begin operation of their state this morning. Eighteen representatives from state departments will advise their young counterparts.

Nationalist party members approved a platform calling for the decriminalization of marijuana, more consumer protection, a statewide mass transit system and anti-abortion proposals.

More than 1,340 delegates are attending the annual event, sponsored by the American Legion.

Earthworm Plays Important Role

By LARRY C. MUNN and NORRIS L. WILLIAMS
Soil Resource Specialists

The role of earthworms in the formation of soils is well known; not so widely known is the fact that many authorities consider ants to be of even greater importance. This is especially true in the drier regions of the U.S. where worm activity is limited by moisture; but even in humid areas such as Ohio the cumulative effects of the ants activities have been enormous.

Above ground portion of the common red and black ant hills often contain 100 to 150 and up to 500 lbs. of soil and this represents only part of their yearly earth moving operations.

Ants are constantly bringing up new material from the subsoil as they clean out and enlarge their tunnels. This material is dispersed over the area around the colony by wind and water erosion.

The underground maze of the ant hill often penetrates 15 feet into the ground with hundreds of chambers and side tunnels. As the hill settles and tunnels collapse the workers clear out the debris and carry it to the surface. The constant circulation of material in the mound serves to mix mineral material from the lower soil horizons with the humus of the topsoil, thus enriching the soil around the hill.

In addition, foraging worker ants bring large quantities of leaves, insects, and of course some picnic crumbs back to the hill to feed the queen and broods of young. Some of this material is stored in the hill for later use and a part of it eventually is converted into humus by fungi and through digestion by the ants.

Another consideration is the addition of the bodies of the ants themselves to the soil; colonies often contain 100,000 to 300,000 individuals; and, except for the queen, the turnover is rapid. Dead ants are carried away from the mound and discarded to be returned to the soil.

Ants living in Ohio and Pickaway County are somewhat less spectacular than those of the tropics where many of the over 3,500 known species of ants are found.

Some species of tropical ants are more than 1½ inches long while other species are so small they are difficult to see with the naked eye. They have very diverse lifestyles as weaving nests of leaves and silk in the tree tops, hunting in swarms containing up to 20 million individuals, or growing fungi in huge nests.

These nests have been known to contain more than 40 tons of earth and leaf material and have chambers large enough to accomodate a full grown man.

In extensively cultivated areas of the county the larger ant hills are usually found in fence-rows, wood-lots, or abandoned fields. Of course the largest ant hills occur in the wooded southeastern portion of the county and state.

During our mapping in such areas ant hills over 4 feet in height and 8-12 feet in diameter have been encountered. Although the ants can be found most everywhere they are primarily located in the better drained Miamian or loose sandy and gravelly soils as Fox and Casco.

Fewer ant hills are found in shallow bedrock on swampy areas. Ants in most cases have better ability in selecting well drained soils for their homes with basements than many humans.

When ants colonize lawns they become serious pests. They can destroy the grass and shrubs in the immediate area of their mounds in a very short period of time. The tiny red ants which commonly invade dwellings in search of food, live in small, unobtrusive colonies around foundations or even in the hills of other ants.

As most homemakers know, it is nearly impossible to completely shut them out of the human household. Except in lawns and golf fairways the earth moving activities of ants are usually unnoticed and the contributions of a single colony to soil formation is small.

However, it must be remembered that ants have been excavating and mixing continuously over the last 18-20,000 years in the glaciated areas as Pickaway County and for millions of years in unglaciated portions of Ohio. The quantity of earth moved in that time span by these industrious beings is incalculable.

Bankers Blame Trouble On Nixon

BASEL, Switzerland (AP) — The bank for International Settlements today attributed the drop in the value of the dollar to policies of the Nixon administration.

The bank is an institution ruled by the monetary authorities of the world's leading nations.

It said lack of confidence in the dollar was influenced by the fact that the U.S. government:

— Declined to go into world markets to buy up dollars.

— Promised U.S. investors to give up controls on sending their money abroad.

— Took only moderate action to hold down private spending at home.

It made only a discreet banker's reference to the Watergate scandal.

"The sharp deterioration of the dollar has been ascribed in part to political developments in the United States," it said.

The report also found that nearly all governments have given up fighting inflation the way they used to.

The kind of stability that money had in the United States, West Germany and Switzerland in the early 1960's is no longer sought, the bank said. It explained:

"Attention to public opinion has obliged government to give top priority to full employment and economic expansion, and the pursuit of other objectives can only be partial and intermittent."

The bank saw "excessive wage increases" as the core of accelerated inflation. It found that typical living costs have been going up eight to 10 per cent a year and wages 10 per cent. In a few countries, such as Italy, the wage increases have been much higher.

Only in the United States have they been as low as 6 per cent, and the rate there seems likely to rise this year, the bank said.

High prices for farm products and other raw materials were also partly to blame for inflation, the bank reported. It remarked on the "sensitivity of wage demands to food prices" — meaning that people ask for more pay when the price of steak goes up.

A Page Of Opinion

Negative Response

Concept of a new Atlantic charter, first called for by presidential assistant Henry Kissinger and promoted by the President in his talks with French President Pompidou, has gained little support among the European nations most directly affected. If the diplomatic breeze flowing from Europe to the United States on the charter subject were any cooler, icebergs would rule the ocean.

Paris has been the most outspoken critic of the American proposal, preferring to see the status quo remain. In French eyes, that means Common Market progress will continue to the tighter exclusion of the United States from European affairs, but the force of 300,000 U.S. troops provided for European security would remain.

As evident from the non-statement and general air of brusqueness following the Iceland meeting of the two presidents, Pompidou has not softened his position. Adding to his adamant attitude the less than enthusiastic reception for the Washington proposal in London and Bonn, the hopes of meaningful discussions promoting a new sense of responsibility toward European security remain remote.

The European governments are shying away from any talks which directly link American troops in Europe with economic and monetary matters. The two obviously are related, but the Europeans prefer to hold the American troop presence as their trump card to help bargain the Soviets into reducing their troop presence in Eastern Europe.

Washington's diplomatic soft-pedaling is not working.

Power Light 'On'

With a few major exceptions, the outlook for electric power this summer in the United States is good. That is welcome news for a nation which has been undergoing more than its share of bad reports about energy availability.

Surveys taken of all sections of the U.S. indicate generating capacity this year should be no problem, with the possible exceptions of the metropolitan areas of New York, Chicago and Los Angeles. The situation in those areas is largely contingent upon unrelated factors such as stiffened environmental controls, a lack of rainfall in the Northwest and a past record of generator breakdown.

Weather, as in past summers, could play a decisive role. In New York, for instance, an estimated 40 percent of electric energy during the summer months goes to operate air conditioning units. An exceptionally hot summer obviously could increase the electricity drain there considerably.

Power officials in those three cities declare the worst which could happen would be temporary brownouts. As an insurance measure, campaigns will be under way in a number of localities to limit unnecessary power consumption. Electricity at the flick of a switch is still there, but energy officials would prefer if that switch was not flicked on quite so often.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Monday, June 18, the 169th day of 1973. There are 196 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1815, the British defeated Napoleon in the Battle of Waterloo in Belgium.

On this date—

In 1633, Charles I was crowned king of Scotland at Edinburgh.

In 1778, in the Revolutionary War, Colonial forces entered Philadelphia as the British withdrew.

In 1812, the United States declared war against Britain.

In 1949, in World War II, the Nazis captured the French port of Cherbourg.

In 1953, Egypt was proclaimed a Republic, and Premier Mohammed Naguib became the country's first president.

In 1954, Pierre MendesFrance became premier of France.

Ten years ago: The United States said that it might have to retaliate against western European countries unless they eased restrictions against American farm products.

Five years ago: West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt went to East Berlin to establish direct contact with Soviet authorities on the issue of access to West Berlin.

One year ago: A British jet airliner crashed minutes after taking off from the London airport, killing all 118 persons aboard.

Today's birthdays: Actor-director Richard Boone is 56. Paul McCartney, formerly of the Beatles, is 31.

Thought for today: A republican government is slow to move, yet when once in motion, its momentum becomes irresistible — Thomas Jefferson, 1743-1826.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I can recall almost 50 years ago that my father and my grandfather were called in to apply cups when any of the neighbors were very sick.

Only recently I learned that this kind of treatment is still being used. Is it in any way related to acupuncture?

Mrs. A.R.B., Tenn.

Dear Mrs. B.:

There is no relationship between acupuncture and the practice of "cupping" that has been used in some countries for centuries.

Acupuncture is a technique that has been in use for more than 3,000 years in China. Hundreds of the most elaborate studies of the surface of the body have been handed down from generation to generation, to teach the art and science of acupuncture.

Acupuncture, once totally discarded by Western civilization, has now been revived for scientific investigation.

The National Institutes of Health in Bethesda, Md., have set up a research program in an effort to learn more about acupuncture, its techniques, and its results.

Cupping, too, is an old form of treatment. The Egyptians used it and considered it a form of blood-letting.

Many kinds of glass and metal cups have since been applied to the skin in an effort to extract from the body, especially the lungs, severe infections.

It was not unusual for people who were not doctors to be considered cupping specialists. Many of them were remarkably adept at applying cups to the back of the chest in patients who had pneumonia.

Long before the advent of antibiotics, cupping was one of the few methods of treatment for bronchial infections and pneumonia.

At the turn of the century, many doctors carried some type of cups and used them effectively for some varieties of disease.

Even today, there is physiological evidence that cupping may have had some scientific validity.

Our daughter is 16 and has not yet begun to menstruate.

Someone suggested that chiropractic manipulation might help to bring this about.

How do you feel about this idea?

Mrs. T.M., Ind.

Dear Mrs. M.:

No, there is no value to chiropractic manipulation to bring on the menstrual cycle.

Menstruation is probably one of the most remarkable processes in the body, by which all hormones, especially from the ovaries, combine to establish this cycle.

Sometimes the process starts early, sometimes late.

It is most important that your daughter be assured that she is not "different" because her menses are delayed. Very often physicians can induce the onset and regulate menstrual periods.

Need An Energy Policy

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Everything connected with energy seems to be going wrong these days. We have gas shortages and voltage cutbacks. A container ship, the Sea Witch, plows into a small oil tanker, the Esso Brussels, in the Narrows leading to New York harbor, killing several crew members in a flaming, oil-filled sea. The Naderites demand instantaneously clean automobile engines, with complete indifference to the difficulties involved in getting both the carbon monoxide and the oxides of nitrogen out of the exhaust at one and the same time.

The anti-pollutionists and the conservationists seem eternally to be working at cross-purposes: the newer automobiles, with better emission control, get only eight or ten miles to a gallon of gas, which means that the Nader "improvements" will require an 11 per cent increase in total fuel consumption. The circle thus goes back to the dangers of collision as more tankers move into our ports with more crude oil destined for our over-worked refineries.

It could all have been avoided. Ten years ago, as I remember, I took a trip through the Appalachian coal country with Joe Moody, who was head of the National Coal Policy Conference. He kept talking about the need for a national energy policy, which would have resulted in some positive thinking about a blend of coal, hydroelectricity, oil, natural gas and atomic power use. True, he put his main accent on coal, which led critics to say he was flacking for his own industry. But Joe Moody's interests were wider than that: he urged the need of a composite energy policy on both Richard Nixon and John Kennedy in the 1960 election campaign. Nothing came of it.

So now we have the chickens coming home to roost. The ridiculous thing about it is that our politicians have been scared witless by the short-sighted claims of the environmentalists. New Jersey politicians, fearful of polluted beaches, are categorically against setting up a deepwater single-point mooring installation off Sandy Hook that could accommodate the new 250,000-or 300,000-ton tankers. Their fears are misplaced: a single big tanker pumping its cargo into an undersea pipeline for direct transmission to refineries in the northern New Jersey and Philadelphia regions would be a much safer proposition than four or five 75,000 ton tankers crowding into the Delaware River or New York harbor.

The U.S., up to ten years ago, was the world's leader in the technological revolution. But today it seems incapable of learning anything new. Meanwhile, the foreigners have taken over. The British, the Mediterranean countries, the Nigerians, and the North Africans, the Japanese, the South Americans and the Indonesians have no aversion to deep-water loading and unloading of oil. By idiotic contrast there isn't a single deep-water oil terminal in the whole United States. The State of Maine voted "no" on a proposition to bring big tankers into a deep harbor at Machiasport. The Big Stone Beach deepwater terminal site in Delaware was prohibited by Delaware's Coastal Zoning Act of 1971.

But just what is it that the environmentalists fear? Britain's Milford Haven oil terminal is located in a national park, and the Gulf Oil Company's Bantry Bay facilities in Ireland are set down in a region that remains attractive to tourists. At Rotterdam, in Holland, recreational beaches have been built with the sand dredged from the deepwater channels required by tankers. Economic and environmental needs can be combined, but Americans, with their compartmented minds and emotional approach to problems, don't seem capable of learning from the British, the Irish or the Dutch.

The crazy thing about it is that we often react before we know what we are talking about. When offshore drilling for oil in the New England coastal region was first mentioned, Governor Tommy Meskill of Connecticut was among those to condemn the very idea. His constituents had visions of seeing oil wells in Long Island Sound. They hadn't listened to the geologists, who might have reassured them that any prospective well would be at least 30 miles over the horizon on the farther side of Long Island. And they might have taken heart from the British and the Norwegians, who will be getting North Sea oil from pipelines leading from tanks situated out of sight on the ocean floor.

To give Governor Meskill due credit, he has relaxed his original stand against offshore oil drilling. He told his fellow politicians at the recent Nevada governors' conference that energy needs must be considered along with ecological demands, which put him up alongside New Hampshire's progressive Governor Meldrim Thomson Jr., who wants a refinery, deepwater unloading facilities, atomic energy plants and all that.

Save The Scrip

OAK RIDGE, Tenn. (AP) — Scrip is a token that won't pay your bus fare or buy you a telephone call or even work in a candy machine. But it's good as some 100,000 people.

Coal mine scrip, issued by coal companies until the early 1950s, was accepted tender in company stores but not worth a plug nickel elsewhere.

Collectors now pay up to $75 for a single token, according to R. R. Tippy, vice president of the National Scrip Collectors Association.

Black Caucus Wields Power

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Despite some internal squabbling last fall, Cleveland's 21st District Caucus appears healthy enough to wield real political clout again in this year's mayoral election.

The question may be: "Who will get clouted by the caucus' black political power—the Republicans or the Democrats?"

In the 1971 mayoral election it was the Democrats who got hurt. The caucus, founded by U.S. Rep. Louis Stokes and his brother, former mayor Carl Stokes, has strong Democratic ties. But it backed Arnold Pinkney, who ran as an independent in 1971.

Result: Republican Ralph J. Perk defeated Democrat James Carney, giving the GOP control of City Hall for the first time in 30 years.

The caucus patched up some of its differences with the Democratic party last year, when the local party organization made Louis Stokes co-chairman. But, the caucus has continued to operate as a third force in city politics.

The caucus leadership split last fall over support of Republican Ralph Tyler, a black who is a member of Perk's cabinet. Tyler ran for county engineer against veteran Democratic leader Bert Porter. Stokes supported Tyler.

However, the caucus, under the leadership of George Forbes and Pinkney, endorsed Porter, a white. Porter won—one of the few defeats for the caucus, which has backed other Republicans against Democrats.

"That's the only issue in which they (caucus leaders) haven't been in concert," said William Franklin, a Democratic councilman who is a member of the caucus' executive committee.

It may have been the only issue, but it was a bitter one. Stokes took control of the caucus with what his opponents call a ruthless display of power. Forbes resigned from the executive committee.

Stokes later announced his support in the mayor's race for a black minister, the Rev. Alfred M. Waller, 52.

Forbes, who was named City Council president by the council's Democratic majority, reportedly is supporting Carney for the party's mayoral nomination.

Stokes had said a black mayoral candidate must run.

Curb Flow Of Narcotics, Solon Urges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of a new House subcommittee says the government is not spending enough money to fight the narcotics flow into the United States and urges a crash program to halt the illegal entry of drugs.

Rep. Lester L. Wolff, D-N.Y., chairman of the international drugs problem subcommittee of the Foreign Affairs Committee, said Friday the government has "refused to commit more than a minimal amount of funds ... to the problem."

"I believe a crash program is necessary" to get at the problem, Wolff said.

He also disclosed the panel will look into what he said appears to be an attempt, by manipulating the flow of legitimate opium, to get the United States to change its international drug policy.

Wolff said pharmaceutical companies have complained recently that efforts to halt illegal drug traffic are creating a shortage of opium on the legal drug market. The morphine base derived from opium is used in the manufacture of codeine and other drugs.

"We intend to look into what may be an attempt to disrupt our plan to cut off supplies at the source by illicit drug operators who are interrupting the supply of licit narcotics to these reputable firms," Wolff said.

"He added that in 1971, almost 1,500 tons of opium were produced for the legal market."

"India alone produced almost 1,000 tons. The American purchase of the Turkish opium crop makes hardly a dent in the legitimate supply," Wolff said.

He said the $42.5 million the Nixon administration wants for international narcotics control is inadequate, and that he would request a $7.5 million increase. Wolff said also the committee will try to halt foreign aid to nations not working to control narcotics.

Western College To Join Miami U.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Western College has decided to affiliate with its big neighbor across the street of 120 years, Miami University.

Western President William C. Spencer said the move was a financial one. As a college of Miami University, Western will be financially able to maintain its 35-member faculty and 400 students and keep its identity he said.

Tyke Freed From Well

CONCORD, Calif. (AP) — "Oh, my God, they've freed him," cried the mother as her 15-month-old son came up bawling and muddy in the arms of rescuers.

Little Carl Christian had been lodged for almost three hours Friday night in a narrow well shaft, 11 feet below the surface and just 10 feet above water.

The boy's father, Richard Christian, said he was digging a well and had boarded it over temporarily.

"I didn't think he would get in," Christian said.

The boy's mother, Sherry, 29, recalled, "We were in the house and I went out to check on him because I heard him crying. When I went outside I didn't see him. I looked down in the well and he was crying his eyes out."

It was that same healthy voice which reassured rescuers as they dug a rescue shaft alongside the 20-inch-wide well. More than 200 persons gathered and kept watch. An ambulance stood by.

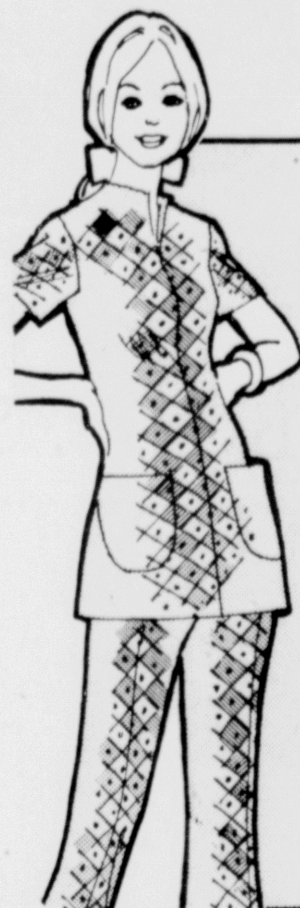

The workers tunneled into the enclosed well shaft beneath the boy so that they could catch him if he fell. Finally, they pulled him free and emerged from the hole to applause.

"When the kid came out, he was bawling like a newborn babe," said Pacific Gas & Electric worker Slim Pederson.

"He's at that stage where he's crawling and climbing into anything," said Mrs. Christian.

MRS. LARRY E. SMITH

Butz-Smith Wedding Vows Read In First Presbyterian Church

The wedding of Miss Susan Joyce Butz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul A. Butz, 127 Collins Court, Circleville, and Mr. Larry E. Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Palmer of Middleburg, took place 3:30 p.m., June 16th in the First Presbyterian Church of Circleville.

The Rev. Henry A. Walters performed the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with standing baskets of white mums. Seven branch candelabra with ice blue tapers and emerald palms completed the decor.

Organist, Mrs. Theodore L. Huston, played a program of nuptial selections preceding the ceremony.

The bride was escorted to the altar past pews marked with blue satin bows and given in marriage by her father. She selected for her wedding day a formal length gown of white silk organza and alencon lace. The neckline rose to a high cameo collar from a sheer yoke trimmed with lace. The empire bodice was accented by blue satin ribbon as were the shepherdess sleeves.

The gathered skirt was encircled at the bottom with a two tier ruffle and the lower part was appliqued with motifs of alencon lace. Her train extended to chapel length. Highlighting the bride's attire was a bonnet of organza holding a chapel length veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white carnations and daisy pompons with blue ribbon streamers.

Miss Nancy Butz of Columbus, was maid of honor for her sister. She was attired in a formal length gown of sheer blue floral print lined with pastel blue crepe. The bodice featured a low ruffled round neckline and short puffed sleeves. The empire waistline topped a gathered skirt with a ruffle at the hemline. She carried a small wicker basket of daisy pompons.

Bridesmaids were Miss Jenney Butz, of Circleville, sister of the bride and Miss Lynn Scranton of Columbus, roommate of the bride. They were dressed identically to the maid of honor and carried matching baskets of flowers. The attendants dresses were made by the bride and they wore pendant necklaces, gifts from her.

Mr. Paul Richards of Columbus, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Mr. Dale Yothers of Columbus, the bridegroom's roommate; Mr. Richard Butz, Circleville, the bride's brother, and Mr. Micah Palmer of Middleburg, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Butz wore a floor length gown of sculptured polyester in rose pink. Mrs. Palmer chose a yellow floor length gown with silver trim. Both mothers wore corsages of white gardenias.

A reception in the social rooms of the church immediately followed the wedding. The focal point was the four tiered wedding cake trimmed in blue, served from a round table covered by a white cloth with a blue net overly. Fruit shrub punch was served along with the cake.

Hostesses were Mrs. John Grant, Columbus; Miss Cindy Lindeman, Cincinnati and Miss Carol Slivka, Cleveland. Mrs. Paul Richards, Columbus, sister of the groom presided at the guest book. Mrs. Paul Smith, sister-in-law of the groom, and her daughter, Chista, of Middleburg, gave rice packets to the guests following the wedding.

For a wedding trip to Florida, the bride wore a pant outfit of navy with white polka dots accented with white collar and cuffs. The couple will be at home at 1207 Weybridge Road, Columbus after July 1st.

The bride graduated from Miami University and is employed as a teacher in the Upper Arlington School System.

The groom graduated from the Ohio State University and is a representative of Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Cincinnati, Columbus, Cleveland, Middleburg, East Liberty, Ohio and Utica, N. Y.

Miss Carol Jane Hodges Weds Robert Merle Parsons

MRS. ROBERT MERLE PARSONS

Miss Carol Jane Hodges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Thomas Hodges of Florence, S.C. and Mr. Robert Merle Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arch Cogar Parsons of Belpre, Ohio were married 2:30 p.m. June 16th at Community United Methodist Church, Circleville, Ohio.

The Rev. David Frazer performed the double ring ceremony. A program of music was presented by Mrs. James Timmons, organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She selected for her wedding a floor length gown of bridal white Chantilly lace and crepe, designed with a portrait neckline and empire bodice, buttoned down the back with miniature covered buttons.

Scalloped lace and seed pearls accented the neckline and full sleeves, cuffed at the wrists. The skirt swept back into an aisle-wide chapel length train, decorated with lace appliques and pearls.

Her bouffant elbow length veil of illusion cascaded from a Camelot band of lace and pearls, and she carried a colonial bouquet of yellow Sweetheart roses and daisies.

Maid of honor was Miss Sheryl Lynn Binns, Circleville. Bridesmaids were Miss Martha Elizabeth Hicks, Florence, S.C., Miss Lynan Jacobs and Miss Elizabeth Anne Weiler, both of Circleville.

The bridesmaids were attired in yellow dotted Swiss dresses fashioned with long, full sleeves gathered at the wrists. The empire bodices were accented with lace above the gathered full skirts. The attendants carried baskets of yellow roses and daisies.

Mr. Jeffrey Carty, Uniontown, Ohio served as best man. Ushers included Mr. John Holdren, Richmond, Va., Mr. Robert Dean Mabe, Circleville and Mr. Dennis Miller, Salem, Ohio.

A reception in the church fellowship hall followed the ceremony. After a wedding trip the couple will reside in Shelby, Ohio.

The mother of the bride wore a gown of floral chiffon in pastel shades of green and lavender. The mother of the groom wore a gown of blue crepe.

The bride was complimented with two parties prior to the wedding. A linen shower was given by Miss Lyn Jacobs and Miss Beth Weiler and a personal shower was hosted by Miss Sheryl Binns.

Mrs. Kenneth Knox Life Master Feted

Mrs. Kenneth Knox was presented a gold bridge charm bracelet by members of the Mixed Duplicate Bridge Club in recognition of her achievement of the rank, Life Master, at a buffet dinner and bridge tournament held at the Chillicothe Country Club. Eighteen tables of bridge were divided into two nine table sections.

Winners from Circleville were: Miss Margaret Mattinson and Bruce Brookbank, second overall; Mrs. Charles P. Mowery and Mrs. Ernie Weiler, section first; Mrs. Ned B. Elliott, section third; Mrs. Kenneth Knox, section third.

Mrs. Knox was director for the tables at the weekly session of the Chillicothe YMCA Duplicate Bridge Club. Winners from Circleville were Miss Margaret Mattinson and Mrs. Charles P. Mowery.

Wedding Plans Are Completed

Miss Trudy Jane Dutcher and James Lewis Stevens have completed plans for their wedding.

The ceremony will take place 2:30 p.m. June 23rd at Trinity United Methodist Church in Laurelville. The Rev. John Glick will officiate.

Blindness No Handicap To This Auto Mechanic

HUBBARD, Ohio (AP) — John DiBattiste is a mechanic who figures out what's wrong with a car just by listening to it. He won't even look under the hood.

That's because the Warren native has been blind for eight years, but in the time since he's learned to use his hearing and sense of touch to replace his eyes.

His auto repair trade is limited to neighbors and relatives, but they swear by his work. To diagnose car ills, DiBattiste simply sits in the front seat with the motor running.

"If a car's timing is off, I can feel it in the seat of my pants," he said. Repairs he has completed include brake jobs, replacing water pumps, installing exhaust systems and replacing shocks, he said.

DiBattiste also has some local fame for his handywork around his Hubbard home.

The work runs from toasters to television antennas. He and his wife, Virginia, climbed up to the roof of the Youngstown Osteopathic Hospital to install one antenna.

Once, when Mrs. DiBattiste was stumped by the directions which accompanied a disassembled picnic table, DiBattiste sat down with the pieces and put it together by touch, he said.

His electrical work sometimes makes bystanders a little nervous, he admitted. But he installed his own door bells and repaired some of the home's wiring.

And "once I got knocked right on my you-know-what," he said, laughing. "But I love electrical work so much it hasn't scared me off."

DiBattiste also cooks and takes a hand with the housework. He said he can't understand women who "bellyache at what a big job housekeeping is."

"They moan and groan over the job, and I can get this house cleaned in two hours and be back to working on a car. "What have they got to gripe about?" he said.

Haircutting Not The Same In Cambria

CAMBRIA, Ill. (AP) — There isn't much that will impress you with Ed Pearson's barber shop, unless you're the type who enjoys good conversations or, better, enjoy paying a dollar and six bits for a haircut.

Pearson, 79, has been cutting and shaving hair for 51 years in Cambria — starting way back in the 1920s when the town had 1,600 residents and four or five coal mines nearby. One mine alone, Pearson said, had a biweekly payroll of $40,000.

But that was before the stock market crash in 1929 and before the mines closed and most of the people left. Now, you might find Pearson sleeping in the only barber chair in front of a cracked smoky mirror, and in colder weather a pot-bellied stove will be providing most of the warmth.

"Business is very slow now," he said, "everybody is wearing long hair and whiskers. It has hurt the barber business 98 per cent. Even some of the older fellows are letting their hair grow. I can remember when they wanted it clipped high in the back."

Another thing that hurt his business is the death of a lot of his older, regular customers recently.

If you happen to need a haircut or shave while you're in the vicinity of Cambria, stop in and visit Ed Pearson. Both you and he will appreciate it.

Girls State Picks Mayors

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Buckeye Girls State delegates elected mayors Sunday for 25 cities in their week-long mythical state for high school girls.

The mayors, to be sworn in tonight by Mayor Elizabeth Paddock, are:

Karen Konst, Ottawa; Karen Benya, Norton; Lori Jones, Lebanon; Mary R. Palmer, Mansfield; Dawn Copley, South Point; Mary Fishell, Lakewood; Georgia McKee, Milford; Audrey K. French, Chillicothe; Gail Hammer, Lindsey; Cynthia A. Rigling, Hamilton; Terri McClad, Mansfield; Julia Walling, Springboro; Cynthia Kallie, Toledo; Mary Ann Adams, Shelby;

Kathy Houchin, Belle Center; Jill Waidel, Canal Winchester; Sally Webb, Ravenna; Betsy Sherman, Delaware; Brenda Stafford, Wilmington; Patricia Guarnieri, Warren; Molly Nessick, Columbus; Linda Probst, Martins Ferry; Linda Atkin, Newton Falls; Cassandra Domer, Georgetown; Beth Hardy, Bryan.

About 1,250 girls from all over Ohio are attending the government workshop at Capitol University. The program is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Brezhnev Visit Unlike That Of Khrushchev

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legend has it that when Nikita Khrushchev visited the Iowa spread of Roswell Garst, the Coon Rapid farmer became so angry at the swarming hordes of reporters that he kicked one offending newsmen in the shins.

That is not likely to happen this week when Leonid Brezhnev, Khrushchev's successor as general secretary of the Soviet Union's Communist Party is President Nixon's guest in the United States. This time, if all goes according to plan, newsmen will not get close to Brezhnev at all.

The striking difference between the two tours stems from the striking differences between the two men, their itineraries and the U.S. of then and now.

Khrushchev was an unpredictable, moody man, easily offended and always ready to offend. Brezhnev, labeled for years as a technocrat, is a disciplined politician.

Khrushchev was "good copy" whatever he said or did and seemed to enjoy it. Brezhnev, it appears, has no such ambitions, although American Kremlinologists are not so sure after his recent visit to West Germany where he was photographed embracing Chancellor Willy Brandt in a classic Russian bear-hug.

The United States in 1959 was a country with little on its mind other than the upcoming visit of the world's top communist. The United States Brezhnev is visiting is preoccupied with Watergate, inflation and a host of trade and monetary questions.

When Khrushchev came, the visit was front-page news well before his arrival. Now, much to the annoyance of communist diplomats here, virtually nothing is in the papers. When a story does appear, the headline is more likely to read that Brezhnev "will not exploit Watergate," as it did recently on the front page of The Washington Post.

Khrushchev spent 12 days visiting Washington, New York, Los Angeles, San Francisco, the Garst farm, Pittsburgh and Camp David. Brezhnev will see only Washington and the two closely-guarded presidential retreats at Camp David and San Clemente during his 10 day stay.

The 1959 visit was a hectic affair which included two press conferences, one television appearance and a number of speeches. It kept the Soviet leader in constant, often bodily, contact with thousands of Americans.

There were a number of unrehearsed diplomatic gaucheries such as the refusal, for security reasons, of his request to visit Disneyland. Khrushchev threatened to go home, complained about cold war insults and harangued about the superiority of the Communist system.

Brezhnev plans no press conferences, though one televised speech is on the schedule. Administration Kremlin watchers expect him to stick to his itinerary, abide by security restrictions and, as one Soviet specialist put it, "when the program calls for rest, you can be sure that he goes to bed."

1911 Ford Touring Car Wins Award At Show

BLUFFTON, Ohio (AP) — A 1911 Ford touring car, owned by Richard Wood of Pleasant Hill, Ohio, won the best of show antique car award Saturday in the sixth annual Midwest National Invitational Car Meet.

The E. R. Sweigert Memorial Trophy for the best of show car 1928-1948 was won by William G. Smee of Parma, with a 1949 Lincoln.

Harsha Urges Fuel Allocation Increase For Ohio Farmers

"The danger of a fuel shortage is once again facing the farmers of Ohio," warned Congressman William H. Harsha today as he urged a 25 percent increase in farm fuel allocations for the state.

The Ohio lawmaker, who helped to secure an emergency allocation last month for one of the state's largest farm fuel distributors, made the request in testimony before Oil Policy Committee hearings to examine recently established voluntary Federal fuel allocation guidelines.

"Proposed allocations are to be based on the corresponding quarters of the previous year. This would be grossly unfair to the farmers of Ohio," Rep. Harsha said.

"Last fall was extremely wet, and less harvesting was accomplished. Even so, tremendous amounts of fuel were expended in attempting to salvage as much of the crop as possible. A normal harvest would call for vast amounts of fuel that are not now, nor would be later, available under the proposed allocation plan."

Rep. Harsha outlined several factors necessitating the increase:

More plowing must be done due to adverse weather conditions this spring and last fall, and this requires more fuel than usual.

Planting schedules in Ohio for major crops for national and international markets are far behind those of last year. Failure to meet the higher harvest level demands of this year "may result in serious shortages, an adverse effect on our foreign trade posture and skyrocketing prices."

Reserve fuel supplies have been exhausted, primarily by attempts to dry crops soaked by heavy rains last fall and winter. Without adequate reserves, farmers could not combat a similar emergency this year should adverse weather conditions continue.

New customers are on the increase. In its voluntary guidelines, the Department of Interior urges all suppliers to continue marketing to new customers added since the base period. This places an additional burden on already strained fuel supplies.

"I feel it is imperative that the farming industry in Ohio have access to the needed allotments necessary for adequate operation," Rep. Harsha concluded. "I urge the adoption of an additional 25 percent allotment to be made available to the farmers of Ohio. Such an allotment will bring the immediate relief and assistance the industry vitally needs."

4-Year-Old Wins Contest; Becomes Little Miss America

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)— Four-year-old Tiffany Dior Becker of Tazewell, Va., became Little Miss America this weekend in a moppet beauty pageant that included swimsuit and evening gown competition.

But Tiffany—blonde, blue-eyed and a precocious Shirley Temple look-alike—appeared unruffled by the pageantry. "Not bad," she said later when asked how it felt to win.

She chanted from one to 10 in Latin and then left the phone. She returned a little later with more Latin.

"She loves foreign words," her father, Luther Becker, explained between interruptions. She also can count to 100 in English and knows how to spell "Mississippi," he said.

Runner-up in the weekend Cleveland pageant was Lisa Hazen of North Canton, Ohio. Thirty 4-and 5-year-olds representing their home states participated in the contest, an event which will replace the annual Miss Universe pageants.

The girls were judged on looks, face, personality and figure. Talent was not a category because of the age of the contestants, Becker said, but he said his daughter has learned tap dancing, ballet and baton twirling.

Tiffany, an only child, celebrates her fifth birthday Saturday. Becker said the family will stay in Cleveland a few days for sight-seeing and public appearances before traveling to New York to line up modeling jobs.

She won a $500 savings bond, a diamond necklace and an evening gown in the Little Miss America contest, as well as an opportunity to appear on a syndicated television program.

"She wants to be an actress," Becker said, adding that he is not worried about the effect of a public life on the girl.

Blaze Destroys Motel Near Track

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Fire gutted a motel near River Downs Race Track Sunday and fire officials blamed it on defective electrical fixtures which caused heavy damage to River Downs earlier this week.

El Rancho Remkin, which housed many jockeys who participate at River Downs, suffered an estimated $30,000 damage when three units were destroyed and a fourth badly damaged, according to Anderson Township Fire Chief Edward Stromaro.

The motel is a mile from River Downs. The track lost four horse barns and almost a dozen horses in a blaze which Stromaro attributed to bad electrical fixtures.

Dogsleds Come Back

YELLOWKNIFE, N.W.T. (AP) — Dogsleds are making a comeback.

The last dog team in the Baffin Island area was seen five years ago, but with gasoline priced at $1.75 a gallon, sportsmen have found snowmobiles uneconomical for hunting.

Reds Swamp Pirates In Twinbill, 3-1, 5-1

CINCINNATI (AP) — Pete Rose didn't get the hits he needed to reach 2,000 Sunday, but that wasn't what mattered most to the veteran Cincinnati Red.

"As long as we win the game, I don't care about the hits," Rose said as the Reds swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh.

Minutes before Cincinnati was to take the field for the second game, Rose said "This is the most important game of the season for us so far."

The Reds took a 5-1 victory after winning the first game 3-1. Rose said the result would have a buoying effect as the Reds prepare for a crucial road trip west against the division's top three teams.

"I'm a firm believer in momentum and this game could do it for us," said Rose.

Manager Sparky Anderson agreed. "We needed it."

Rose went 1-for-9, leaving him three short of 2,000 as the Reds gear for a nine-day trip to San Francisco, Los Angeles and Houston.

The sweep came behind strong pitching, something the Reds have been missing as the team went into Sunday with 12 losses in 19 games.

Jack Billingham won the opener, allowing three hits in five and one-third innings, but it was the brilliant relief work by slender Tom Hall that left the lockerroom buzzing.

Hall retired 11 straight Pirates, striking out five in three and two-third innings.

It was his first outing in a week and the Reds' relief star, who was 10-1 last year, was overpowering. "I think I got loose quicker than normal in this heat. Some days you just aim the ball and get in trouble, but I had it all working today," he said.

Dave Concepcion, celebrating his 25th birthday, drove in the first Reds' run and rookie Dan Driessen produced the winner in the two-run second inning with a single.

The victory gave Billingham a 9-3 record 20 games before the midway point of the season. Luke Walker, 2-5, took the loss.

Ross Grimsley followed with a route-going eight hitter that saddled the Bucs with their 11th loss in 13 games and eighth of a 10-game road trip.

Grimsley, 5-5, allowed a Pittsburgh run in the first inning when Al Oliver doubled in Gene Clines. Then he blanked the Bucs for his first victory since beating Bob Gibson and St. Louis May 31.

A five-run explosion in the third-inning backed Grimsley. Doubles by Johnny Bench and his catching substitute Bill Plummer keyed the inning.

Rookie Tom Dettore 0-1, took the loss.

Pittsburgh returns home for a three-game stand beginning Monday against Eastern Division leading Chicago. The Pirates are in fifth place 9½ games back.

If you're not impressed with Roger Metzger's .249 batting average, it's a good thing you weren't looking at his numbers a few weeks ago. The first one then was a zero and when you start that way, the other two don't really matter.

Metzger ripped four straight singles Sunday—his first perfect day ever in the major leagues—helping Houston to a 7-3 victory over St. Louis. The Astros' shortstop also scored two runs and drove in another.

Elsewhere in the National League, Los Angeles took over first place in the West Division, beating Montreal 3-2 in 12 innings while Philadelphia was outslugging San Francisco 11-7. New York beat San Diego 3-1, Metzger wasn't the only NL player with four hits Sunday. Willie Montanez had a quartet against San Francisco, pacing Philadelphia to its victory over the Giants, who have dropped seven of their last nine games and slipped one-half game back of Los Angeles. Montanez drove in four runs, three of them with his fifth homer.

The four hits gave Montanez 19 in his last 59 swings, a .322 pace that has raised his season's average to .268. The Dodgers, limited to a scratch single for eight innings against Montreal's Mike Torrez, scored the tying run in the ninth and then battled into the 12th to beat Montreal.

Rookie Ron Hodges drilled a tie-breaking home run in the seventh inning, helping New York defeat San Diego.

The victory was the fifth straight for the Mets and the defeat stretched San Diego's losing streak to nine games.

Carmen Fanzone and Jose Cardenal hit a pair of two-run homers, helping Chicago defeat Atlanta in the first game of their doubleheader.

In the second game, Deron Johnson ripped a three-run pinch homer in the seventh inning to gave the Braves a 5-4 edge. After the Cubs tied it in the eighth, Marty Perez singled home the go-ahead run and then Dick Dietz delivered a pinch single for two more, giving the Braves the victory.

John Miller Victor In U.S. Open

OAKMONT, Pa. (AP) — "When I get it going," said young John Miller, "all I think about is birdies. I'm not going for pars, I'm going for birdies."

"That's why on the tour they call me Joe Feast or Famine."

The stringbean 26-year-old Mormon from San Francisco with the unruly shock of golden hair, the 1973 U.S. Open champion, is typical of the game's new breed—bold, aggressive, unafraid of the Devil himself.

Going into Sunday's final round over the aged Oakmont Country Club golf course, it looked as if any one of a dozen guys might win the prestigious title—but one of them wasn't Miller, six shots off the pace, discouraged over a scattershot third-round 76 and by his own admission "absolutely without desire."

It was a dramatic lineup indeed for the stretch run—Arnold Palmer, the people's choice, and 53-year-old Julius Boros tied with outsiders John Schlee and Jerry Heard for the lead, followed by gangling Tom Weiskopf, Lee Trevino, Bob Charles, Jim Colbert, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player.

Palmer excited his wild vociferous army by leading momentarily early in the last round, then the old, smooth-swinging Boros surged to the front briefly.

Weiskopf, Schlee and the others made their pitch, but at the end of the day it was John Miller who stood on the victory rostrum with the $35,000 winner's check and the prospect of turning it into a million in the next 12 months.

He did it by shooting an Open record-63 over a course that has broken the spirits of some of the greatest figures in golf.

He did it by spewing out birdies in clusters—four in a row to start the round—and four more in the space of five holes on the incoming nine.

There were nine birdies in all, with one bogey, and the fire was so fierce that it burned off all of the challengers.

Miller won with 279, a stroke ahead of Schlee, whose chip from the fringe on the final green missed by an inch and a half from forcing a playoff, and two ahead of Weiskopf at 281. Palmer, after his early charge, fell back into a tie with defending champion Jack Nicklaus and two-time winner Lee Trevino with 282.

Miller was planning to caddie at Olympic in 1966 before he qualified. He played instead, was in contention all the way and finished eighth. He missed the cut in 1967, didn't qualify in 1968. He played the next three years, finishing 30th, fifth and seventh, respectively.

He's the first former U.S. junior champion to win the Open. He has won two tournaments but never before this year had he attained the $100,000 mark in earnings. He now has approximately $114,000.

Metzger ripped four straight singles Sunday—his first perfect day ever in the major leagues—helping Houston to a 7-3 victory over St. Louis. The Astros' shortstop also scored two runs and drove in another.

Elsewhere in the National League, Los Angeles took over first place in the West Division, beating Montreal 3-2 in 12 innings while Philadelphia was outslugging San Francisco 11-7. New York beat San Diego 3-1, Metzger wasn't the only NL player with four hits Sunday. In the second game, Deron Johnson ripped a three-run pinch homer in the seventh inning to gave the Braves a 5-4 edge. After the Cubs tied it in the eighth, Marty Perez singled home the go-ahead run and then Dick Dietz delivered a pinch single for two more, giving the Braves the victory.

Secretariat's Preakness Time Too High, Backers Believe

BALTIMORE (AP) — What do you get for a rich thoroughbred who has everything? An official clean sweep of the Triple Crown records, if possible.

That's the goal of Penny Tweedy, owner of super horse Secretariat, who has asked for a review by the Maryland Racing Commission of the colt's winning time in the May 19 Preakness at Pimlico Race Course.

On the way to becoming the first Triple Crown winner in 25 years, Secretariat shattered old records in the Kentucky Derby and Belmont, and there are those who say he was robbed of another record in the Preakness.

On its weekly Sports Illustrated show Sunday, the Columbia Broadcasting System presented films which purported to show that Secretariat had actually run faster than Preakness recordholder Canonero II in 1971.

After watching the two races on split screen, which indicated Secretariat had run about three lengths faster than Canonero II, Mrs. Tweedy telegraphed the request for a review.

J. Newton Brewer, chairman of the racing commission which already has lowered the 1973 Preakness time once, said he would be willing to call a public hearing if Mrs. Tweedy appears to present evidence and technical data.

"We would have to have experts give a detailed explanation," Brewer said. "If we are then satisfied, the time could be changed."

Secretariat was timed in 1:55 for the 13-16 mile Preakness on May 19 by the Visumatic automatic timer, or one full second above Canonero II's time.

Two days later, the racing commission lowered the official time to 1:54 2-5, which had been recorded with a stopwatch by E.T. McLean Jr., Pimlico's official timer.

McLean normally reports to the stewards immediately after a race when his clocking does not agree with the automatic timer, but there was no explanation of why he failed to do so in this instance.

people's choice, and 53-year-old Julius Boros tied with outsiders John Schlee and Jerry Heard for the lead, followed by gangling Tom Weiskopf, Lee Trevino, Bob Charles, Jim Colbert, Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player.

Palmer excited his wild vociferous army by leading momentarily early in the last round, then the old, smooth-swinging Boros surged to the front briefly.

Weiskopf, Schlee and the others made their pitch, but at the end of the day it was John Miller who stood on the victory rostrum with the $35,000 winner's check and the prospect of turning it into a million in the next 12 months.

He did it by shooting an Open record-63 over a course that has broken the spirits of some of the greatest figures in golf.

He did it by spewing out birdies in clusters—four in a row to start the round—and four more in the space of five holes on the incoming nine.

There were nine birdies in all, with one bogey, and the fire was so fierce that it burned off all of the challengers.

Miller won with 279, a stroke ahead of Schlee, whose chip from the fringe on the final green missed by an inch and a half from forcing a playoff, and two ahead of Weiskopf at 281. Palmer, after his early charge, fell back into a tie with defending champion Jack Nicklaus and two-time winner Lee Trevino with 282.

Miller was planning to caddie at Olympic in 1966 before he qualified. He played instead, was in contention all the way and finished eighth. He missed the cut in 1967, didn't qualify in 1968. He played the next three years, finishing 30th, fifth and seventh, respectively.

He's the first former U.S. junior champion to win the Open. He has won two tournaments but never before this year had he attained the $100,000 mark in earnings. He now has approximately $114,000.

Metzger ripped four straight singles Sunday—his first perfect day ever in the major leagues—helping Houston to a 7-3 victory over St. Louis. The Astros' shortstop also scored two runs and drove in another.

Elsewhere in the National League, Los Angeles took over first place in the West Division, beating Montreal 3-2 in 12 innings while Philadelphia was outslugging San Francisco 11-7. New York beat San Diego 3-1, Metzger wasn't the only NL player with four hits Sunday. Willie Montanez had a quartet against San Francisco, pacing Philadelphia to its victory over the Giants, who have dropped seven of their last nine games and slipped one-half game back of Los Angeles. Montanez drove in four runs, three of them with his fifth homer.

The four hits gave Montanez 19 in his last 59 swings, a .322 pace that has raised his season's average to .268. The Dodgers, limited to a scratch single for eight innings against Montreal's Mike Torrez, scored the tying run in the ninth and then battled into the 12th to beat Montreal.

Rookie Ron Hodges drilled a tie-breaking home run in the seventh inning, helping New York defeat San Diego.

The victory was the fifth straight for the Mets and the defeat stretched San Diego's losing streak to nine games.

Carmen Fanzone and Jose Cardenal hit a pair of two-run homers, helping Chicago defeat Atlanta in the first game of their doubleheader.

In the second game, Deron Johnson ripped a three-run pinch homer in the seventh inning to gave the Braves a 5-4 edge. After the Cubs tied it in the eighth, Marty Perez singled home the go-ahead run and then Dick Dietz delivered a pinch single for two more, giving the Braves the victory.

Ward's Nip 1st Nats In Minors

Ward's Market edged First National, 17-16, in a Circleville Minor League game Saturday.

Ward's Market came up with 11 hits and 31 stolen bases. Hitting the ball safely were Merda Marshall with a triple, Jeff Bloomfield, Darrin Camp, Chris Agin and Mike Lundberg with doubles and a single by Stephen Hedges for Ward's.

Hits for First National were by Jerry Ogan with a triple and a double, Jim Consolitto, Charles Hemming, Robert Brown, and Rich all with doubles, Mark Tacy and Andy Hedges came up with singles.

Brian Dettay was the winning pitcher for Ward's Market allowing 12 hits, seven walks and striking out seven. First National used three pitchers, Jerry Ogan, Robert Brown, and Dallas Hettinger, giving up a total of 11 hits, 17 walks, and fanning nine.

CARROLL RICHTER'S HOROSCOPE from the Carroll Richter Institute

GENERAL TENDENCIES: A day to make sure you are very much aware of modern trends and viewpoints and of ways you can utilize them for quicker, more efficient progress in the things important to you. The evening then has a considerable chance for enjoying company of a good friend and the outlets you like.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Morning is fine for thinking out how to have more rapport with good friends for excellent results. Make better plans for the future. The social side of life is especially fine in p.m.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) A new approach at career matters sees them better handled, finer results gotten, and then the p.m. is ideal for rapport with the influential. Use wise ways to improve worldly position.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) You need more data before you are able to realize that ambition that is so important to you. Look to new advisers for advice you indeed need in p.m. Sit down and write those important letters, too.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) Contact those who operate in a modern way and get good ideas and advice from them for your advancement. Evening is fine for harmony with mate. Show your true devotion.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) Sit down with associates and figure out how to operate more sensibly and profitably in the future. Talk out any debatable points. Devote yourself to kin in p.m. who feel neglected. Think.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You can get all that work out in an exact fashion today, if you start early and plow right through. Take some time to coordinate your efforts with co-workers so there surely will be no friction.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) If you plan your evening activities well during day, they can move without a hitch. Get into some progressive work in the afternoon. Your mate requires a different kind of treatment. Advance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Home and kin require much attention now, so give it, even if only in planning and thought away from home. Bring friends home in p.m. and entertain them hospitably. Ease tensions considerably.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) Get into all the duties ahead of you with vim and vitality and be sure to handle correspondence carefully and well. Evening is fine for the recreational side of life. Join with good friends.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You have to do something quickly about improving your financial situation, or you could get into serious trouble. Update your budget and property so you get better returns. Don't lose your equilibrium.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You need professional help to improve your appearance and health early, then you can be with good friends in p.m. State what your aims are and gain their assistance for them. Avoid one who is jealous of you.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Take some time out from duties to think out how to make the future brighter and how to become a more efficient person. A pal can be in real trouble and needs your help. Be sure to give it willingly.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY . . . he or she will be one of those fascinating people who will be looking into the future and planning how to make changes that will be good for humanity in general, but will also have a practical sense to make own life more affluent. Give as fine and complete an education as you can so that the life here will bring fame and all the fine talents will be fully realized. Spiritual training early for best results, as well as good manners. Sports are a natural here.

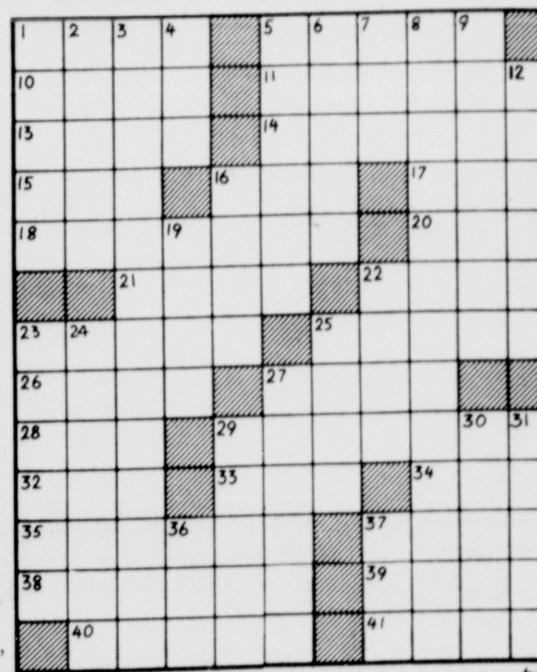

"The Stars impel, they do not compel." What you make of your life is largely up to YOU!

Views On Television

NEW YORK (AP) — John Y. Brown Jr. organized last July's 18½-hour national telethon to get the Democratic party out of hock. It didn't accomplish the feat, so he'll try again Sept. 15 on NBC-TV.

"This will be my last," laughed the 39-year-old board chairman of Kentucky Fried Chicken. "This will be my swan song in the telethon arena."

The swan song will run 5½ hours and start at 7 p.m. It'll come from Washington. His first telethon — the first of its kind in the nation — was broadcast by ABC from New York and Washington.

He says it grossed $4 million, of which about half was eaten by the expense of putting it on. However, it did get the Democratic party's debt down to $3.1 million, he adds.

"I would think with the present environment of people's concern that we could do substantially better than we did last time," he said.

The environment to which he refers is the national impact created by the Senate Select Committee's televised hearings on last year's break-ins at the Watergate offices of the Democratic National Committee.

What effect will the Watergate scandal have on the coming telethon?

"I think it should help, because really the whole history behind Watergate started with the method of financing the campaign," he said, referring to the campaign to re-elect President Nixon.

"It set a standard that was easy to carry over into other unethical actions...what I'd like to prove with this telethon is that the public will finance the political system.

"Then hopefully Congress will enact laws to prevent major givers from giving. I don't think you should be allowed to give $50,000 or $100,000 or $500,000. Anybody who gives that kind of money is going to be expecting something in return."

Brown's telethon kicks off two weeks after a 20-hour Labor Day national telethon comedian Jerry Lewis will hold to raise funds for muscular dystrophy research. Lewis hopes to raise $10 million.

Won't that telethon tend to reduce donations sought by Brown and his fellow Democrats?

"That's anybody's guess," said Brown, who was here to discuss the coming Democratic show with NBC officials. "I'd like to think that one really wouldn't affect the other. I hope that Jerry Lewis gets them in the mood of giving and we can follow up with our telethon."

Brown, who has been mentioned as a possible senatorial candidate in 1974 in his native state of Kentucky, was asked about his political plans and plans only to concentrate on his business activities after the telethon.

"I tell you, the older I get, the less interested I am in seeking public office," he said. "I guess the reason I'm motivated to work on this telethon now is that I'd just like to finish the job the first one set out to accomplish."

Deputies Investigate 3 Injury Accidents

Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies investigated three injury accidents over the weekend.

Christopher D. Payne, 16, Route 1, received a laceration to his forehead when the car he was riding in went off the road into a field.

Eric J. Justice, 17, Route 1, Kingston, driver of the auto, was westbound on Warner-Huffer Road when he failed to stop at the intersection of Bolender-Pontious Road. Justice's auto travelled through the intersection, rolling over a fence and coming to rest in the field.

Damage to the property, owned by Glenn McCoy, Route 5, was estimated at less than $100.

Payne was administered treatment on the scene and advised to see a doctor.

An accident on State Route 762 resulted in Gary Ray Bucher, 18, Harrisburg, requiring treatment at Mt. Carmel Hospital in Columbus.

Bucher received neck injuries in a car driven by Suzanne Taylor, 19, 1310 S. Pickaway St.

Deputies report Miss Taylor was eastbound on Route 762 when she failed to negotiate a curve in the road.

Her car went off the roadway and struck a fence along the road. Coming back onto the highway the Taylor auto again went back off the road to the right and through the fence. The auto came to rest in a cornfield.

Another passenger in the car, Darith Diane Barker, 1310 S. Pickaway St., was not injured.

Damage to property owned by Roger Hill, Orient, was estimated at less than $100.

The accident is still under investigation.

A Sunday evening accident involving a family of seven required medical treatment to the driver, William D. Collins, 31, of Groveport.

Collins was driving west on Airbase Road when his car went off the berm of the road.

Losing control, Collins tried to bring the auto back onto the highway going broadside for 135 feet and off again, coming to rest in a large ditch filled with water.

Members of the Collins family, Shelve J., 32; Margaret E., 12; Robin V., 10; Anita K., 8; Wesley D., 7; Carol S., 4 were not injured.

Youth's Age 17; Cases Reassigned

Burglary charges on file in Common Pleas Court for Talmadge D. Lewis were transferred today to the county's Juvenile Court.

Prosecutor Richard Gerhardt authorized the transfer after evidence was found proving Lewis to be only 17 years of age. The youth had been a resident of the Columbus State Hospital since his early childhood. The hospital's records showed him to be 18, and this was the age Talmadge gave at his arrest.

Juvenile authorities will handle further prosecution of the youth on the breaking and entering and grand larceny charges.

Liquor Department Dismisses Area Case

Department of Liquor Control of the State of Ohio has dismissed its case against Red's Mistletoe Inn, New Holland, for delinquent payment of sales tax assessment.

The Department reported that payment was made in full as of May 31 this year.

Window Displays Attraction Of Annual 4th Of July Fete

A highlight of the Fourth of July festival at Ashville is the attractive window exhibits.

The window trimming competition continues in the 1973 Independence Day festival under the direction of Mrs. Addie Lockard.

Rules regarding the trimming of windows for the 4th of July are comparatively simple, Mrs. Lockard reports, noting that all merchants, church groups, Boy or Girl Scouts or other organization is welcome to take part.

Displays keeping with the 4th of July theme, "Hats Off to America," will be eligible for the judging. The window design must also include the use of an American flag.

Out of town professional window trimmers may not be used.

A card stating the theme and by whom it was made must be placed in the window, Mrs. Lockard advises. Awards presented will be: $15 and rosette for first prize, $10 and rosette for second place, $5 and rosette for third place, honorable mention ribbon for fourth place.

There will be only one classification of windows for awards. Mrs. Lockard has set a June 29 deadline for entries to be reported. Window displays will be judged June 30.

The Independence Day festival this year runs July 1 through July 4.

Distribute License Tax Funds Locally

A total of $20,593 was received locally in piggy-back motor vehicle registration fees.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson reported the money was sent out in May as the first advance distribution of 1973.

The local motor vehicle registration fee is $5 per vehicle and is in addition to the $10 state registration fee and optional $5 special license plate charge.

The $5 local fee can be levied by a county, or if the county chooses not to, then by any municipality within that county. If a county levies the fee then it and municipalities within the county share the proceeds on a 41.7 per cent county — 58.3 municipality basis.

If it is municipally imposed, then that city or village retains all the proceeds.

In Pickaway County, the tax is levied by the Village of Ashville and City of Circleville. Their first distribution receipts were: Ashville $3,006, Circleville $17,587.

Akron Blacks Seek Fire Department Posts

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — Results of civil service exams for black firemen should be announced this week, according to Akron city officials.

Testing was completed Saturday with 87 of 110 originally scheduled for the exam taking the test. Akron is under federal court order to hire seven black firemen by June 25.

NUTRIENT LABELING . . .
ANOTHER WAY KROGER HELPS
YOU CHOOSE THE RIGHT FOODS

Those of us who are not professional nutritionists often have difficulty knowing exactly what nutrients, such as vitamins and minerals are contained in foods.

A new program has been proposed by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration which would give us that information . . . by listing the major nutrients contained in foods right on the label. Kroger was one of five supermarket companies in the nation which cooperated last year in a test of nutrient labeling to assist the F.D.A. in formulating these recommendations.

Kroger's participation in this test convinced the company that such labeling can be of assistance in helping to improve the American diet. So early in 1973, plans began to be implemented to move voluntarily into nutrient labeling of Kroger's own products. Later this year, you will begin to see these labels on our shelves.

Kroger is entering this program because we believe that consumers have the right to know more about the nutritional value of food products. It is one more way Kroger is trying to help consumers shop more wisely.

(For a 30-page cookbook keyed to help you plan meals for good nutrition while supplies last, send 10¢ to cover partially postage and handling costs to The Kroger Co., Educational Service, P.O. Box 1199, Cincinnati, Ohio 45201. Ask for a copy of "The Kroger Basic 4 Cookbook.")

We do all in our power to have all our Advertised Specials on our shelves when you shop for them. Sometimes, due to conditions beyond our control, we run out of an advertised special. If this should happen to you, ask the store office for a RAIN CHECK which entitles you to the same advertised special at the same special price any time within 2 weeks.
